HANDICAP/RULES May-June 2011 from darrell pierce

Please remember that winter travelers and snowbirds returning from warmer climes are encouraged to post your "away" scores. You will need the course ratings and slopes for those courses played. If you are a member of another club in southern climes, perhaps you are already posting scores at your other club. Thank you.

MYTH: The rubber tires on a golf cart will protect you from a lightning strike.

REALITY: Bolts can pack up to 2 billion volts of electricity. Small rubber tires offer little protection. Live to play another day.

We oftentimes see or hear the term, Through the Green. Through the green is the whole area of the course except:

1. The teeing ground and putting green of the hole being played; and
2. All hazards on the course.

Putting Green: The putting green is all ground of the hole being played which is specially prepared for putting or otherwise defined as such by the Committee. A ball is on the putting green when any part of it touches the putting green.

When you are posting your scores, or simply reviewing your scoring history, you may notice the term Handicap Differential to the right of your scores. The USGA defines Handicap Differential as follows: "A Handicap Differential is the difference between a player's adjusted gross score and the USGA Course Rating of the course on which the score was made, multiplied by 113, then divided by the USGA Slope Rating from the tees played and rounded to the nearest tenth. Handicap Differentials are expressed as a number of strokes rounded to one decimal place, e.g. 12.8."

Because the Rules of golf and Handicaps are so intertwined, it is important that we all interpret the Rules the same, which then will reflect the most accurate Course Handicaps possible.

Recently at our Son's request a few of our kind members agreed to be scorers at Oneota as our fine DHS girls hosted the conference golf meet. From Scott's instructions I then told the foursome that I was assigned to that I was there to record their scores, but not to interpret any rules. On hole #5 one of the girls hit her drive into the fairway trap on the right. When she arrived at the ball she immediately noted that her ball was directly behind a stone about the size of a large acorn. I observed with interest as she called her three opponents over and told them her intention was to remove the stone, which was a loose impediment. They agreed and she removed the stone and then approached the green. She knew the rules and she was correct. Like the golf announcers often say on television, "If you're going to play the game, you've got to know the rules."

Sand bunkers are, of course, made up of an indeterminate number of loose impediments; heck, it is filled with sand. What can you remove from a bunker? Well, you can remove an aluminum can, a styrofoam cup and food wrappers, etc. Obviously, you can't remove a grain of sand. However, "stones, which by definition, are loose impediments, may represent a danger to players, since a player could be injured by a stone struck by the player's club in an attempt to play the ball and it may interfere with proper playing of the game. When permission to lift a stone in a bunker is warranted, the following Local Rule is recommended: 'stones in bunkers are movable obstructions Rule 24-1 applies'."

"When I get out on that green carpet called a fairway, manage to poke the ball right down the middle, my surroundings look like a touch of Heaven on earth."-- The late Jimmy Demaret, flamboyant PGA tour player.
